HRnext Holdings LLC Launches Next Generation HRIS Application

Las Vegas, NV (August 1, 2015) - Modernizing the way human resource professionals manage information and communicate with executives, colleagues and employees within their organizations, HRnext Holdings LLC has introduced the next generation of Human Resource Information Software (HRIS). The software, HRnext, is a completely web-based solution that does not require any hardware or software installation, can be implemented in a matter of hours, and provides constant secure access to a company's important employment-related data.

HRnext is the result of many years of research and development and offers users cutting edge technology rooted in the experience and expertise gained by its developers, who are programmers and service providers in the HR outsourcing industry. The newly introduced application provides improved functionality as compared to other HR information management systems, particularly with regard to its seamless integration with payroll and time & attendance systems, and an optional interface with benefits administration systems.

"With deep experience in providing employment-related administrative services to small and mid-sized employers, we have developed an acute sense of their needs in the way of HR information management and systems integration" said Tom Perry, President of HRnext Holdings LLC. "What we've determined is that, regardless of a company's size or structure, HR professionals are seeking the same things from their HR software- ease of use, intuitive employee access and a no hassle report writer. HRnext delivers these tools and offers so much more."

HRnext's features include: a completely intuitive employee self service module; electronic applicant tracking and onboarding; time-off request and approval management; documents storage; an extensive library of standard reports and an ad hoc report writer that allows for customized data outputs based on need; easy to use searching, sorting and drag and drop features that greatly reduce time spent updating employee information; and an audit function that records details of all changes made within the system. Companies using HRnext can also rest assured that their information is as secure as it can be in Windows' Azure cloud, Microsoft's most advanced and reliable cloud based hosting platform.

Of great importance to cost-conscious employers, HRnext is very inexpensive. As Tom Perry says, "we designed this service to be absolutely irresistible for our clients and prospective clients. If you can find a better HR management system for anywhere near the same price, do not waste a minute; buy it today!"
